MRS. L. S. ADAMS,
Of Galveston, Texas.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All druggists have $1.00 bottles. For any stomach, liver or bowel disorder Thedford's Black-Draught should be used.

THE RESULTS OF A JOKE

[Original.]

Tom Shafto was always trying to be facetious.

Tom's facetiousness cost him so many friends that he was finally reduced to but one man, who stuck to him. This was Albertus Whiteright. Whiteright was an exemplary young man with an exemplary young wife. The Whiterights were members of St. Andrew's church, and Burt was always on hand Sunday nights to show strangers to seats and pass the plate. Mrs. Whiteright before her marriage had made it an indispensable condition that the man she married should be a good churchman, and as she considered her church the only true church Burt was obliged to be confirmed before he became her husband.

Shafto was quite intimate with the Whiterights, counting Mrs. Whiteright one of his closest friends, as well as her husband. Frequently when Burt was detained late at the office Tom would keep his wife company. One night Tom called at the Whiterights' about 10 o'clock, and, though he remained till 12, the husband did not return.

"You needn't look for Burt till 3 o'clock in the morning," said Tom.

"Why not?" asked the wife, looking up surprised.

"Why, this is the night of the French ball. Burt is undoubtedly there."

Now, every one who lives in New York knows that the French ball or annual gathering given by the Cercle Francaise is a masquerade composed of elements and productive of antics rendering it an unfit place for one occupying a high place in the church. Mrs Whiteright looked shocked and was about to make an indignant reply when she remembered Tom's proclivity for facetiousness. She simply looked grave and said nothing. Shafto, seeing that the lady declined to be jollied on so serious a subject, turned it and began to talk of other matters. Soon after he took his leave.

At 3 in the morning Whiteright put his night key into the lock and let himself in softly, thinking that his wife was asleep and not wishing to disturb her. To his surprise, she was sitting in the library.

"Why, my precious darling, what are you doing up at this time?"

"It is a wife's duty to bear her husband's burdens with him. If you must work so late, I decline to rest in a luxurious bed."

"It's very lovely of you, but unnecessary."

"What was the nature of your work tonight?"

"An error in the cash. I was obliged to find it or carry it over, which would have made it all the worse."

"By the bye, did you know that this is the night of the French ball?"

"French ball?" Whiteright started.

"Yes."

"What do you know about the French ball?"

"I know that it is an improper ball for my husband to attend."

"I? My dear, so you accuse me of such a thing?"

"I have been told that you were there."

Whiteright caught at the back of a chair for support.

"Who told you such a thing?"

"One of your intimate friends."

"H-h-how d-did he know?"

"That doesn't matter. Burt, I am ashamed of you, a man of your position. And to think that you should have so deceived me! I shall never have any confidence in you again."

Mrs. Whiteright took out her handkerchief, wiped her eyes and, rising, went upstairs. There was weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth between the Whiterights not only that night, but for nights and days to come.

The next afternoon Shafto saw Whiteright coming down the street and had a joke ready for him. What was his surprise to see Whiteright pass him with his head in the air. Shafto hurried after him.

"What in the world's the matter, Burt? Have you gone blind?"

"I have always supposed," replied the other angrily, "that you had the decency not to give a man away to his own wife."

"I give you away to your wife? I never did any such thing."

"You did it last night."

"Last night? How?"

"You informed my wife that I was at the French ball."

"You at the French ball? Who would believe that you would go to such a place? Certainly not I. Now I remember I did say something of the sort as a joke."

"Joke or no joke, I was at the French ball. I was masked, and no one would have known it if it hadn't been for your contemptible give away. Good morning."

And with a snort Whiteright broke away from Shafto, and their friendship came to a termination.

The end is not yet. Mrs. Whiteright, who had a conscience like a poker, decided that her husband was not in a spiritual condition to go to the communion table. All her troubles were divided into two classes, the one for her doctor, the other for her pastor. This was for her pastor. She confided the whole affair to him. The pastor invited the delinquent to his study, and told him that the offense must go to the vestry. When Whiteright met the vestry, he regretted the matter, especially as he had intended subscribing $500 for the chimes, whereupon the vestry decided that the French ball was not (necessarily) a place interdicted to a churchman.

The Whiterights remained at home the next summer and saved money to pay the subscription.

ALEXANDER R. SHERMAN.

CONTROL OF CIRCUMSTANCES

[Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company.]

Billy Burton, alias "Kid" Burton, was facing a situation that even he philosopher though he was, admitted was unpleasant. Indicted for murder in the first degree, with a chain of circumstantial evidence that was without a flaw, locked securely in a newly built jail, with no means of escape and no pal within a thousand miles to furnish such means, it was but natural that he should mutter to himself that he had "gone de pace and must walk de plank fer it." Yet he accepted his fate with stoicism that was admirable. Always expecting arrest and dreading detection, he had come to consider that the events which constituted his life must naturally and necessarily terminate upon the gallows And now that the blow had fallen he accepted it resignedly.

The door swung open, and John Narvall, attorney at law, stepped inside. The warden locked the door and left them together.

For a moment each man stood measuring the other. Narvall saw a man of great physical strength, whose better nature had been warped by circumstances. Burton saw a slight, athletic man of perhaps twenty-three or twenty-four, with pale, aristocratic features and an inscrutable countenance. Burton was in the presence of a superior and realized it.

These two were representatives of the extremes of society.

"I sent fer you, guv'ner, to see what you could do fer me. You see, it's like dese: I'm slightly up against it dis time and"— began Burton, but Narvall stopped him.

"Wait and let me state your case to you. You are indicted for murder in the first degree. The evidence is all against you, and you haven't a single witness. The indictment states that you administered poison to your late employer, Mr. Hartford. The poison was nitric acid, and the prosecuting attorneys have in their possession half a bottle of the acid left which will be introduced as evidence."

"Dat's straight, guv'ner."

"And, now, will you pay me $3,000 if I have you acquitted?"

"Don't jolly me, guv'ner. You know it can't be did. I've got de swag all right; but, say, swag don't go wid dat judge ner wid de jury dat's to try me. I knows."

"I don't bribe judges and juries," said Narvall coldly. "Will you pay me that fee?"

"Yes, but say"—

"Then that closes our business. And, now, listen. I will not see you again until your case comes up for trial. It is set for next Wednesday, six days from today. No matter what I do at that trial, you are not to show surprise." Narvall turned and called to the warden.

"Just er minute, guv'ner. Do you b'lieve I'm guilty?"

"The judge and jury will decide that. My duty is not to determine whether or not you are guilty, but to establish your innocence." He turned and walked out.

The six days passed by slowly to Burton. At times he thought that after all Narvall must have been "jollying" him, but in the end the first impression of him still remained.

At last the day for which his trial was set arrived. He was taken into the courtroom and his case called. The jury was drawn and impaneled and the witnesses for the state were examined. Every iota of the testimony was against Burton. When the state solicitor rose to make the opening argument, the net of circumstances that surrounded Burton was without a broken strand. Not a man on the jury doubted that he was guilty. The state solicitor ended with a smile of triumph. This would be one more conviction to his credit.

Then Narvall rose. He was slightly paler than usual, but a faint smile hovered about the corners of his mouth.

"If it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury, in the face of such evidence as has been introduced I have but one argument to make. They tell you that deceased died from the effects of half the contents of this bottle, administered by the defendant." He picked up the little vial and looked at it thoughtfully. "And now, gentlemen, if that be so it must necessarily follow that the remaining contents will have the same effect upon a human being as the other half is alleged to have had. This, I assert, it will not do." Every ear was strained to catch his speech; every eye was fixed on Narvall's cold, inscrutable face. No one saw the small capsule that slipped from between Narvall's fingers into the vial.

"Yes, in spite of the fact that learned chemists have testified to the contrary, I say that this is not poison. And now for the proof"— He raised the vial to his lips, and before the astonished attorney, who sprang forward, could reach him he had drained every drop.

A low murmur of horror went up from the crowd without the bar. A stillness as of death reigned for a few moments and was broken by the calm collected voice of Narvall:

"Gentlemen, if within half an hour I am dead of course the defendant is guilty; otherwise you can but acquit him."

An hour later, when the jury had brought in a verdict of "not guilty," Burton pressed forward and extended his hand to Narvall. The latter stared at it coldly.

"I guess you're right, guv'ner," said Burton. "You're a gentleman."

O. A. LANE.

A Bit of Diplomacy.

An American from Texas got into trouble with a gendarme in the City of Mexico during the Spanish-American war, when foreign and local sentiment was against the United States. The offense consisted largely in the fact that the stranger was an American, but he landed in jail nevertheless. Not wishing to see the Texan spend the night in jail, his friends sallied forth to obtain his release. First they visited the home of the American ambassador and found he was out of the city. Then they went to the home of the English minister and found him in bed. By dint of insistence they succeeded in getting into the house and were met on the staircase by the minister himself, arrayed in official pajamas. Carefully disguising the fact that their imprisoned friend was an American, they appealed for assistance. "Ah," said the minister cautiously, "your man is in jail, is he? But tell me, is he a British subject?" "Your excellency," said General Agremonte, who acted as spokesman, "the prisoner speaks English perfectly." "Ah," said the minister, "then the presumption is in his favor!" Half an hour later, thanks to the personal intervention of the British minister, the Texan was released from the Mexican jail.

The Tune Was Familiar.

An interesting anecdote is told of the old tune to which a well known song is now sung. The story runs that when the army of the first Napoleon was in Egypt in 1799 the camp for awhile was near the pyramids. One afternoon about sunset the band was playing, and the natives of the desert had collected and were listening to the music. Nothing unusual happened until the band struck up a tune which we now hear under the name of "We Won't Go Home Till Morning." Instantly there were the wildest demonstrations of joy among the Bedouins. They embraced each other and shouted and danced in the delirium of their pleasure. The reason was that they were listening to the favorite and oldest tune of their people. The tune had been taken to Europe from Africa in the eleventh century and had lived separately in both countries for over 700 years.

What Is Happiness?

Happiness is the greatest paradox in nature. It can grow in any soil, live under any conditions. It defies environment. It comes from within. It is the revelation of the depths of the inner life as light and heat proclaim the sun from which they radiate. Happiness consists not of having, but of being; not of possessing, but of enjoying. It is the warm glow of a heart at peace within itself. A martyr at the stake may have happiness that a king on his throne might envy. Man is the creator of his own happiness. It is the aroma of a life lived in harmony with high ideals. For what a man has he may be dependent on others; what he is rests with him alone. What he obtains in life is but acquisition; what he attains is growth. Happiness is the soul's joy in the possession of the intangible. —William George Jordan.

Cheerfulness.

It is said there is nothing which diffuses itself more quickly in a family than the coolness, indifference and discontent which manifest themselves in the countenances of one of its members. This thought is not absolutely true. There are some things which communicate themselves with as much rapidity and more force. They are a bright smile, a frank and open manner, a cheerful face, a happy heart.—Selected.

A Mean Dig.

Maude—Mr. Willing asked me to accompany him to the opera tomorrow evening.

Clara—And you accepted the invitation?

"Certainly."

"Strange! He asked me also."

"There's nothing strange about it at all. I told him I wouldn't go unless he provided a chaperon."

Many a child has been fooled by the story of the pot of gold which is to be found just at the foot of the rainbow, and has started out to gather riches full of happy dreams.

Many a man and woman have been deceived by the tale that there was health to be found out beyond the sunset, and they have started out dreaming of a healthful future, never to be realized.

People who have tried change of climate in vain for the cure of weak lungs have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding lungs, emaciation, and other conditions which, if neglected or unskilfully treated, find a fatal end in consumption.

"Last spring I had a severe attack of pneumonia which left me with a very bad cough, and also left my lungs in a very bad condition," writes John M. Russell, Esq., of Brent, Cherokee Nat., Ind. Ty. "I had no appetite and was so weak I could scarcely walk. My breast was all sore with running sores. I got two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I believe saved my life. I cannot express my gratitude to you. I am able now to do very good work."

Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery" is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery," which no "just as good" medicine can show.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps, for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Widow and the Bank Book.

THE late Philip Cowen of Santa Rosa deeded all his property to his wife just before he died. The object in so deeding his property was simply to save his widow the expense of probating a will and administering upon his estate. This was all right and proper had not the late Mr. Cowen overlooked a little matter of $4,000 in cash on deposit in a bank in San Francisco. This deposit defeated Mr. Cowen in his object of turning over all his earthly posessions to the one, above all others, who was entitled to them and who had toiled with him for many years like a faithful wife to earn a comfortable competence for their declining years. The deceased husband evidently did not know that money deposited in bank in his name only could not be paid over to his widow, or any other person for that matter, except by check, without passing through probate. But such is the law. Mrs. Cowen discovered this, the other day, when she went to the bank in question to draw the money, and that is why the olographic will of her deceased husband was filed for probate in the Superior Court of this county last Monday.

The very same thing happened in this place a number of years ago. When the late J. A. Losee died it was discovered that he had deeded his ranch and all his belongings to his faithful wife and companion of nearly half a century, Hannah Losee. There was something like $800 in cash on deposit in the husband's name in the Sonoma Valley Bank. This of course, like the Cowen bank deposit, had to be probated upon, and he, too, was defeated in his object of saving the costs and bother of administering on a small estate which he desired should go to his wife in its entirety.

Now, the necessity of probating upon bank deposits in cases like the above could have been very simply obviated. All that was necessary would have been to have had the wife's name placed on the bank book by the receiving teller of the bank, making her, as it were, an equal partner in the funds so deposited, which would have entitled her to withdraw them at her will either before or after her husband's death. Had this been done in either of the cases mentioned above the probate court would have known these widows not.

The moral of this is: If you are going to die, have money in bank and desire that your wife should get it without the red-tape proceedings of the probate court be sure and have her name placed on your bank book. There is nothing like knowing how to do things right.

THE appointment by Governor Pardee of Robert A. Poppe of this place and C. E. Haven of Santa Rosa as members of the Board of Directors of the California Home at Eldridge was a wise move on the part of the Governor, who evidently believes in keeping that institution out of the hands of political freebooters and making it pure and simple what the law-makers of our State intended it should be—a home for the care and maintenance of feeble minded children. These two directors, living as they do almost within reach of the shadows of the institution, are bound to take a pride in its management if for no other reason than local considerations. When the new directors assume their duties we dare say that there will be no repetition of the scandals that have attached to the California Home the past year and made its management notorious from one end of the State to the other and impaired its usefulness for doing good. We repeat that Governor Pardee was wise in placing Messrs. Poppe and Haven on the Board of Directors of the Home, because we take it every State institution should number one or more local men among its Trustees. With such a representation institutions like and similar to the California Home would, without a doubt, be conducted with honesty and economy and solely for the benefit of the unfortunate charges of the State.

THERE will be thousands of visitors in the valley this spring and every one of our resorts will be filled to overflowing. It therefore behooves our City Dads to join in with the progressive citizens of the town and make it as attractive as possible to the strangers. Let them turn on the street lights, enforce the sanitary ordinance and encourage the work of the Woman's Club, to the end that a favorable impression of the town be left on the minds of the visitors when they will have taken their departure hence. If the City Trustees are in favor of our business men and property-owners reaping their share of the benefit to be derived from this forthcoming influx of visitors they will do all of these things. Otherwise—why otherwise.

Just a little dollar on a mission sent,
Makes a lot of people glad each time a coin is spent.

You pay it to the butcher, for meat to give you strength.
He takes it to the grocer, from whom it goes at length.

Some pretty bit of cloth or lace his better half to buy,
Or help to get her winter hat to make her rival sigh.

The dry goods man sends on the coin to pay his market bill,
And though the coin is often spent. it stays a dollar still.

And every time 'tis spent at home some act of good is done,
In booming local industries ere the setting of the sun.

But if you take that shining coin and break the local chain,
The chances are that from afar 'twill not return again.

For once it passes out of town the butcher and the baker,
The grocer and the dry goods man, the cook, the undertaker,

The carpenter, the carriagewright, the blacksmith—every one—
Will lose the chance to touch that coin ere the setting of the sun.

Just keep the little coin at home, just keep it moving well,
And every time it changes hands somebody's goods 'twill sell.

That single little dollar has thus the wondrous power
To make somebody better a dozen times an hour.

It pays the bill and wards off ill, and ne'er its power relaxes
To soothe the doctor, buy the coal and pay for clothes and taxes.

PETE OLSON—the simon-pure Pete—the identical individual who slew Mrs. Lyons in Wooden Valley, Napa county, ten or twelve years ago, has again bobbed up. This time Pete has materialized in Alaska after a lapse of many years, if Deputy U. S. Marshal Heasey of Valdez be right in his conjectures. In the opinion of many people in Napa county, however, Pete Olson is dead, if he was not in reality a myth. It is true a human skull was found in the mountains a short distance from the scene of the tragedy months after the commission of the horrible crime but there was no positive proof that it was that of Olson. We do know, however, that two innocent men were mistaken for the fugitive by over-zealous officers and killed in their tracks.

Miss ELIA BOURGE

One of the Beautiful Women of Chicago relates an experience.

Miss ELIA BOURGE, of 47 Ashland Boulevard, Chicago, Ill., wrote to Dr. Pierce recently, as follows:

"I am glad to be able to testify to the public what your medicine has done for me. I had been troubled with catarrh for a number of years; had used many other remedies but failed to find any change and was about to give up all hope. I at last tried your medicine and found it just what it is represented to be. I used a number of bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and will say that I have not felt as well in several years. My headaches, which had become a common occurrence, have entirely disappeared, as well as the burning sensation I endured through my eyes and nose. My voice has wonderfully improved since using your medicine; I would not be without it, and I shall forever give praise to your worthy medicine."

PUBLIC SINGERS EVERYWHERE

Recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for coughs, nose and throat troubles. It cures Bronchitis, Laryngitis, Weak Lungs, Bleeding from Lungs, public speaker's Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and Suppression or Loss of Voice. This vegetable tonic has ingredients which allay a cough, and at the same time it purifies the blood, thereby getting at the seat of the difficulty, for a cold or catarrh is produced by a stagnation of the blood supply. The "Discovery" purifies the blood by eliminating the corrupt and poisonous accumulations which are the source of many diseases. It gives new life and strength.

E. D. LOE, of Princeton, Mo., sends his sincere thanks to Dr. Pierce, as follows:

"About one year ago I took what our home doctor called La Grippe, and was bothered with a dry hacking cough, also bowel trouble, all summer. People of my acquaintance said I was going fast with quick consumption. Had weighed one hundred and eighty pounds before having Grippe, but had become very thin when I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After taking five bottles the bowel trouble was completely overcome and my cough was gone."

Sick people, especially those suffering from disease in chronic form, are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, free.

GIVEN AWAY. No charge is made for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is sent FREE on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing ONLY. It is the best modern medical work, containing more than one thousand large pages of valuable advice and information. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.

We sell the greatest of blood purifiers, ACKER'S BLOOD ELIXIR, under a positive guarantee. It will cure all chronic and other blood poisons. DEME GORDENKER.

How He is Getting Along in the Philippines.

Mrs. Gordenker of Glen Ellen has received another letter from her son, Deme Gordenker, who is a teacher in "our new possessions." Young Gordenker writes from Maria, P. I., under date of January 29, and we are permitted to take the following extract from the letter:

"My work here is meeting with some measure of success. I have been appointed to act as principal of the Summer Normal School, which will be held this May in the capital of the province. I have no doubt that should I choose to stay in this country the way to advancement for me is sure. If I do not stay it will be because I do not wish to barter my future for a fat salary. I live too comfortably and my life has too much routine and too little soul excitement in it. I thank God that the future is still of my own making—that upon my shoulders there is no load of wealth or social position and that the old hungry, struggling Bohemian life still waits for me.

Cavanaugh's planing mill, Petaluma, is going up rapidly. When completed it will be one of the substantial buildings in the egg city. It will be two-stories in height and the main floor will be 50x100 feet. The upper floor is 38x100 feet, which will be reached by an elevator. In connection with the mill will be a drying kiln. This progressive firm, under the management of Mr. Ed. Cavanaugh, will soon be able to supply all kinds of mill work in addition to lumber and other building material.

Material for a Crack Team Organized in this Place

A baseball team has been organized in this place with O. M. Riewerts as manager and captain. Chester Trudgen is the secretary and treasurer. This team is composed for the most part of crack players, and in course of time the new organization will try conclusions on the diamond with the ball-players of Petaluma, Napa, Santa Rosa and other near-by towns. Gaige & Lewis' field on First-street West south of Napa street has been leased for a diamond. Bleachers will be erected and other preparations made to play a series of games the coming spring and summer.

Guardian Appointed.

Judge Burnett on Tuesday last appointed Robt. A. Poppe of this place guardian ad litem of Leopoldo Maionchi, who was committed to the State Hospital at Napa last week. The Press Democrat in reporting the appointment of a guardian, says among other things:

"There was a lively argument between counsel in the actions brought by L. Maionchi against F. Nichelini when the matter of the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the plaintiff, who was last week adjudged insane, was discussed in Judge Burnett's court Tuesday. Counsel for the plaintiff, William F. Cowan, suggested the appointment of Mr. Modini as guardian on account of his familiarity with the case. R. M. Swain, of counsel for Nichelini, objected. The court afterwards appointed Robert A. Poppe as guardian. Attorney T. J. Butts is also of counsel. A demurrer was argued in the second suit and submitted."

Death of a Pioneer Woman and Former Resident.

Mrs. Margaret Weiseman, many years ago a resident of this place and a pioneer woman, passed away in San Francisco last Tuesday. The deceased came to Sonoma with her husband in the early sixties but left here twenty-three years ago. Mr. Weiseman engaged in the livery stable business here with Jerry Linehan. He died twenty-four years ago and was buried in in the Catholic cemetery. The remains of Mrs. Weiseman were shipped to this place Wednesday morning and interred beside those of her husband. The deceased was a native of Ireland and aged sixty-three years.

Wants to Restrain Supervisor Hart.

Otto Zink applied to the Superior Court Monday for an injunction restraining Supervisor Blair Hart from the alleged diverting of the course of a small creek which has caused it to overflow his land on the Cotati. Zink also asks for $177.50 damages. Thus it will be seen that Supervisors, as well as other people, have troubles of their own.

An Appeal from Justice Small's Court.

A. M. Barley and wife have taken an appeal to the Superior Court from Judge Small's Court in the case of Howe vs. Barley, regarding the ownership of personal property. The case was decided against Barley by Judge Small, and in favor of Mrs. Howe, who is now Mrs. Annie Shay. The attorneys who filed the appeal for Mr. Barley were F. A. Meyer of Petaluma and Ben S. Wood Jr. of Santa Rosa.

THE HOME FOR FEEBLE MINDED

Governor Pardee Appoints New Board of Directors.

On Saturday last Governor Pardee appointed a new Board of Directors for the California Home at Eldridge, as follows:

William Thomas of San Francisco, vice Col. Jack Harrington.

C. E. Haven of Santa Rosa, vice C. Walter Gould.

Rev. C. A. Bane of San Francisco, vice himself.

Rev. Wm. Lyons of San Francisco, vice himself.

Robert A. Poppe of Sonoma, vice H. E. Leland.

These appointments will no doubt meet with general approval, as the new directors are well-known citizens of high standing.

The new directors will assume charge of the affairs at the California Home some time the present month.

Under their administration many changes will be made at the Home and it is said that Dr. Osborne can have his old position of Superintendent if he so desires. As the doctor is now conducting a very extensive and profitable sanitarum in Santa Clara, established and built up since he was removed without cause two years ago, it is hardly probable that he would sacrifice an income of several thousand a year for a job that only pays $150 per month.

Dr. Dawson, present incumbent, now that he has a good Board of Directors behind him ought to be able to bring order out of confusion at the Home, which is said to be in a chaotic state owing to the interference and incompetency of the former Board of Directors, who were very properly removed by the Governor.

Fractured His Jaw in a Fist Fight.

Joe Toroni and Wm. Fowler engaged in a row in a wine cellar in the northern part of town, on Friday night of last week. In the mix up that followed Fowler's jaw was fractured in two places. Dr. Thomson attended to the injured man, who has to be fed through a tube. Fowler will be laid up for a month or six weeks. Nobody arrested.

Shaw Cottage Changes Hands.

The S. H. Shaw cottage on Broadway has changed hands. The property was purchased last week by Chas. Dal Pogetto, who owns the adjoining cottage on the south. The consideration is said to have been $1.200. The house is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lewis.

A. E. Gaige is transacting business in San Francisco this week.

E. M. Gender spent several days in the metropolis this week but is now home again.

Will Behler has purchased twenty-five acres of land contiguous to his ranch and is fencing the same.

W. L. Ashe was called to San Francisco last Saturday by the sickness of his brother Porter Ashe who is down with pneumonia.

Dr. C. C. O'Donnel has just discovered oil on his ranch. A company will probably soon be formed to develop it and another industry be started.

E. Bode and wife have taken a two years' lease of one of Chauvet's cottages. Mr. Bode was formerly a policeman in San Francisco but is now on the retired list. He is no stranger to this burg, having visited here in former times and always enjoyed our pure mountain air and grand old scenery. It is not unlikely that they may settle here permanently.

The Dunbar Improvement Club met last Saturday afternoon in the Dunbar school house. A very good attendance. General Wagner of Bennett Valley was the leading spirit of the meeting. He made a very interesting speech on the advantages of rural delivery and made it clear to the meeting the modus operandi of securing the best advantages of the same. General Wagner formerly practiced law in San Francisco but some four years ago purchased the Hilton place and with his wife settled down to enjoy the delights of country life. His home is one of the loveliest in our valley. They have christened it "Casa Wagner." The house is large and comfortable and luxuriently furnished. A broad avenue of lofty pine trees shades the approach to the house, the grounds are spacious and remind one of an old country home with its air of wealth, ease, comfort and refinement. Here can be found every variety of fruit for which California is noted and grows so abundantly in this favored clime—the country we all love so ardently and are so favored in having "our lines cast in such pleasant places." In summer we seem to be in fairyland with such charming surroundings, sunny, balmy air, grand scenery and luscious fruits.

The quest for gold still continues and there is a great demand for mountain ranches (which have risen in value) by mining men. The precious metal has been discovered in several new places. Mr. Hathway, who about two years ago purchased the Burns' Villa, has found several good prospects on his ranch, three miles from town. He is a man of wealth and enterprise and will employ men and develop his own mines. A short time ago he purchased the "Secret Pasture" and has set out a vineyard. He is also raising stock very extensively. Mr. John P. Nordwell, whose ranch is four or five miles higher up in the mountains, is also very successfully digging for gold and has had several very promising assays made. On government land adjoining his place prospectors have staked off claims and are busy at work. Coal and oil have also been discovered in this vicinity. We are truly entering on a year of prosperity. Indications were never brighter for us, and Glen Ellen is not only keeping pace with the outside world but soaring above all our expectations. Copious rains have blessed us this winter and our valley is a panorama of beauty and prosperiiy. All indications are favorable to our success and happiness.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT ACT VALID.

The County Government Act has been declared valid by Judge Emmet Seawell, and our county officials were enabled last Saturday to draw their salaries, which had been tied up since January 5th.

Judge Seawell's decision is a lengthy one and he admits that the question at issue is a close one, but gives all doubts in favor of the law.

It will be remembered that the validity of the County Government Act of 1901 was questioned by County Treasurer Glen E. Murdock regarding the payment of the salaries of county officers and their deputies, and upon the opinion of District Attorney C. H. Pond that the act was unconstitutional, County Auditor C. A. Pool refused to draw a warrant for the salary of any county official. Deputy County Clerk G. W. Libby then mandamused the Auditor before the Court to show cause why he should not issue the said warrants.

W. T. Park, one of Petaluma's practical poultry raisers, says about

Coulson's Balanced Ration EGG FOOD

As a test I have been feeding to 150 laying hens Coulson's Balanced Ration Egg Food for the past four weeks, and I am well satisfied that it is good stuff. From these 150 hens I now get an average of four dozen eggs a day, and I am certain that some of these hens are laying three eggs in four days. As a further test I bought fifty hens that were all run down; their combs were black, and their feathers were half missing. I commenced feeding them Coulson's Egg Food, and after two weeks' feeding on this food they have picked up wonderfully; their combs are bright red, they have a new crop of feathers, and about twenty of them have started to lay, as I get from this lot twelve to eighteen eggs a day; and each day one or two new ones start to lay; and so I am well satisfied that Coulson's Egg Food is good Feed and gives good results.

We have many testimonials like this coming in every day. If you want to get your hens to laying buy a ton of this food for $33, and feed it to the hens as a mush once a day, and in three or four weeks you will be surprised at the returns.

HEAT IN THE OVEN.

How the Bakers Determine It by the Mere Touch of the Hand.

"Bakers have a curious way of telling just what the temperature of the oven is," said a baker who has been in the business for more than a quarter of a century, "and they can tell, too, with almost marvelous accuracy. You take a man who is an expert in the business, and he can tell what the temperature of the oven is by simply touching the handle of the oven door. In nine cases out of ten he will not miss it to the fraction of a degree. Bakers have other ways, of course, of testing the heat of the oven. For instance, when baking bread they sometimes throw a piece of white paper into the oven, and if it turns brown the oven is at the proper temperature, or, when baking other things, they will throw a little cornmeal flour into the oven in order to test the heat. But the baker's fingers are the best gauge, and when you come to think of the different temperatures required in baking different things it is no small achievement to even approximate the heat of the oven by touching the handle of the oven door.

"Bakers figure that during the rising time of a loaf of bread, after it has been placed in the oven, it ought to be in a temperature of 75 degrees F. During the baking process, in order to cook the starch, expand the carbonic acid gas, air and steam and drive off the alcohol, the inside of the loaf must register at least 220 degrees. In baking rolls, buns, scones, tea biscuits, drop cakes, fancy cakes, New York cakes, muffins, puff cakes and things of that sort the oven must show a heat of 450 degrees or higher. When the oven is at 400 degrees, it is fit for cream puffs, sugar cakes, queen cakes, rock cakes, jumbles, lady fingers, rough and ready and jelly rolls. At 350 degrees wine cakes, cup cakes, ginger nuts and snaps, pies, gingerbread, spice cakes, such as raisin, currant, citron, pound, bride and so on, may be baked. It requires a still lower temperature to bake wedding cakes, kisses, anise drops and things in this class. But, whatever temperature the old baker wants, he can tell when he has it by simply touching the handle of the oven door."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE COOKBOOK.

To boil cream the day before enhances the richness of the coffee into which it is poured.

The remnant of stewed or preserved fruit left from tea will improve a tapioca pudding the next day.

To cook carrots quickly add a small piece of soda to the water in which they are boiled. This will improve the flavor of the vegetable.

To prevent gravies from becoming lumpy remove the pan from the fire while the thickening is being stirred in, after which set the pan back on the fire and cook thoroughly.

Several green coffee beans left to soak in the unbeaten white of an egg will color cake icing a delicate green. The beans should be removed and the egg whipped and used for the icing.

If bread has been baked too brown or if the crust has been blackened in an oven made too hot, do not attempt to cut off the black with a knife. As soon as the loaves are cold go over them with a coarse grater.

Divorce In Japan.

A traveler recently returned from Japan tells of some of the queer laws in that country concerning divorce: "A divorce on the part of the husband is easily obtained. One of the legal causes of divorce is 'if the husband and the wife too loquacious.' Yet in all my long experience in Japan I have met only one man who discarded his wife, and I never met with a family where dissension existed, nor have I ever heard of a husband treating his wife with severity, although the same cannot be said of some parents-in-law, who consider their son's wife a mere chattel. As a general rule, the appearance of girls and women testifies of a lightness of heart not always found in other climes where their sisters have more abundant means of happiness."

The Weight of a Trifle.

In the journal of the celebrated English preacher, Frederick Robertson, occurs the following singular passage: "If I had not known a certain person, I never should have given up soldiering to become a minister; if I had not met a certain lady, I never should have known that person; if my dog had not disturbed that lady's invalid child at night, I never should have met her. It is true, then, that if my dog had not barked on that particular night I should now be in the dragoons or fertilizing the soil of India."

Fashion In the Garden.

It is the passion for fashionable novelties—a passion of modern existence—which prevents us from enjoying our gardens as our grandparents used to enjoy theirs. We allow our hired gardeners to drive thence all the simple old flowers that our fathers loved and called by pet names which were familiar to us all in nursery days.—London Garden.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a tea-spoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never used it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." INDIGESTION, is the cause of more discomfort than any other ailment. If you eat the things that you want, and that are good for you, you are distressed. ACKER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS will make your digestion perfect and prevent Dyspepsia and its attendant disagreeable symptoms. You can safely eat anything, at any time, if you take one of these tablets afterward. Sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee 25 cents. Money refunded if you are not satisfied. Send to us for a free sample. W. H. HOOKER & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by F. Duhring. *

WHAT IS THE USE

of suffering from indigestion if you eat what you want, or of starving yourself to avoid such distress? Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after eating will digest your food perfectly and free you from all the disagreeable symptoms of Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Eat what you like at any time, and take an Acker Tablet afterward. Poritively guaranteed. Your money will always be refunded if you are not satisfied. W. H. HOOKER & Co., Buffalo, N. Y. R. G. Shoults, druggist.

THE WINTER ROUTE EAST.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky Mountains have a high elevation, the winter climate is cold and snowy. The fact is the average precipitation of moisture during the entire year is less than fifteen inches, the danger from snow blockades on the railroads very slight. This is especially true of the Denver & Rio Grande, over which System travel has gone with less interruption for the past ten winters than upon the majority of lines popularly supposed to be free from such delays.

Old winter but adds to the majestic beauty of the mountain scenery along the way. It brings no fear nor discomfort to the traveler on the "Scenic Line of the World."

Our personally conducted daily excursions are operated all the year round and are cheap and comfortabl means of reaching all parts of the East.

An Odd Pulpit.

The oak pulpit in the Seamen's church at Sunderland, England, is a curio in the way of pulpits. It is built of wood in the shape of a boat's bow and bears on the gunwale in letters of gold the inscription, "Nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net." The pulpit was the gift of the naval officers and men of the Dedway flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers in acknowledgment of the kindnesses received during their visit to Sunderland in May, 1901.

To Make Him Happy.

Old Peterby is rich and stingy. In the event of his death his nephew is to inherit his property. A frend of the family said to the old gentleman:

"I hear your nephew is going to marry. On that occasion you ought to do something to make him happy."

"I will," said Mr. Peterby; "I'll pretend that I am dangerously ill."—London Telegraph
